

Obama Era

Dear Mr. President

Letter 6: Time to Clean

Is your road going to get easier if the people never bring up the nation's major health bill? What plan will mend the true hurt that brings a major rift in this nation? A plan in this nation says, "Great freedom is given by doing whatever plan the people long to move in." But what brings greater freedom than healing in body, soul, and spirit? I can say that this will not be taken well. Too much freedom will not bring true fulfillment.

The pursuit of being a happy way has made this nation train in their binging ways, never having enough of anything that is given into their bodies. Can a nation heal when they don't have their One True God to worship? How can there be a will in pleasing the people by giving such fake freedom to worship whatever you have as your own god? "To each his own," some would say, yet many do not see how another person can greatly influence their own way of living. So, if you say it is okay to drink a certain beverage, then is it okay for every person alive in your nation to drink this same beverage? What if that beverage is a drug-filled drink with addictive traits, keeping their loyal drinkers with a constant need? What if your new invention caters to those who are legally under the law's acceptable age to partake? Would you have the good judgment to follow a person's invention based on a government voting system that uses flawed perception, which would, in turn, make that invention a binding contract for the nation to follow? It's because laws, amendments, and additions are not based on guidance from the Great God, who can steer the nation with true seeing.

Many blame the President of the United States for their own illness based on needing a figure separate from themselves, who would take their guilt and blame. What if each person changes who they worship and all take on worshipping the same God? "That does not truly seem fair," many would say, yet the people will turn against a figure over their nation and blame him for the way they misused their own body. They misuse their bodies in this way to indulge in whatever plan fits within that inner pain that can only be filled with a God who will be able to change things. They will need to know that there is a way to engage the God of the universe. The way to engage is in spirit and in truth.

Will taking in salvation bring a change in the healthcare structure? Only if every person takes a moment to walk forward and enter this Kingdom of God. Sitting undecided on government issues will not change you. In reality, sitting undecided will change everyone who meets with you. In the Kingdom, there is a different way to place up an order. God filters into His Kingdom citizens and causes their spirits to drink Kingdom purpose. There, in the spirit part of the person, God gives His purpose for each human. How? Through spiritual birth. Each person will learn, but each person will not engage after the introduction.

What is your purpose, Mr. President? To heal a wounded person who uses their skin color to win a race battle. If the people let God heal them, they will stop looking to eat their way to fulfillment. If people will turn from the church rituals and drink straight from the River King Jesus, they will enter a true refreshing. If they, referring to any who feel a dark race, if they would humble themselves before God's hand and let Him take them into healing, then the Black race would give out ways to heal. Within the Black race, there is a racial battle against how light or dark the skin would need to be accepted. A battle rages within the person of a dark way; they cannot heal from how the White race has made the "white way" a leading way. Please have a look and see; I am a woman of three heritages. Many will not forgive what the White race did in slavery ways under the nation's protection.

These human laws are faulty. And with each amendment, another human plan leads how the people are to carry themselves. If the law were perfect, would there ever be additions to give freedom to each person's heart? But what gauge is measuring the heart of the person voting? How can any human have a right heart without a Partner who can always give a consistent heart of what is better? The Kingdom is maintained with Kingdom attributes, not whims. But if a politician would come and present ways to start removing toxins from the public, he or she will see a way to create a “black hole” geared to take in only the poison, leaving the human. If a prophet could hear God, would that nation give an ear?
